

ILLINOIS MILITIA MAY LEAVE TONIGHT

Lack of Equipment Makes Earlier Departure Impossible

FUNSTON SENDS REQUEST

First Infantry and F Battery of Field Artillery Are Mustered Into Federal Service

NO ORDERS TO MOVE GIVEN

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 26.—No part of the Illinois National Guard will be ready to leave for the Mexican border before tomorrow night. This statement was made here tonight by Adjutant General Dickson and Lieutenant Colonel E. M. Lewis, federal officers in charge of the mustering of state troops into the federal service when they were told of General Funston's request for the Illinois troops.

Lack Sufficient Equipment

Railroad officials here were notified today that trains to move the troops southward would be here tomorrow night. The lack of sufficient blankets, mess kits, uniforms and other equipment, General Dickson and Colonel Lewis said, makes it impossible for the troops to depart tonight.

The first infantry and F battery of the field artillery were mustered into the federal service today and the work of mustering was well under way tonight in B battery, in the second and seventh infantry regiments and in both field hospital companies.

Colonel Lewis said tonight that according to his latest orders the troops must undergo medical examination before they may entrain for field service. The federal army officers here decided today not to muster in the troops under the "unit mustering plan" whereby medical examination and the checking of equipment are waived.

Put Score in Guard House

About a score of members of the first infantry who refused to take the oath of allegiance to the federal government were put in the guard house at Camp Dunne.

Tonight for the first time since the beginning of the mobilization, no soldier was permitted to leave Camp Dunne without a pass from his company commander.

"A" battery of Danville arrived at the mobilization camp this afternoon simultaneously with a telegram from the war department to General Dickson authorizing the immediate mustering of the battery into the federal service. This probably will be begun tomorrow.

June 15th, members of "A" battery, then numbering 45 men, were notified that they were no longer recognized by the war department and that the battery was to be mustered out. At the request of the Danville Chamber of Commerce, General Dickson gave the battery until July 31st to re-organize and sent Captain Curtis Redden, former star Michigan University football player, to engineer the re-organization. In two days Redden had recruited the battery up to 175 men.

Commanding officers at Camp Dunne said tonight uniforms for a majority of the new recruits would arrive tomorrow. It was authoritatively stated that the officers in charge of the mustering would report to General Barry at Chicago, probably tomorrow that those units of the state troops which have been mustered in are "fairly well equipped for field service."

Give No Orders to Move

Chicago, June 26.—At General Thomas Barry's office it was stated tonight that no state troops in the central department have been given orders to move yet and that none will move until given orders to do so by General Barry. They must be mustered in, examined physically and a report made to headquarters on their equipment before an order to move as federal troops would be given, it was pointed out.

The mustering in of the National Guard of any one state was not completed today, according to reports received by General Barry. Progress was reported in Illinois, Wisconsin, Missouri, Kansas, Ohio and Nebraska. Kansas, it was said, would probably be the state in which mustering in would be completed first. States reporting to headquarters that will offer their troops tomorrow were Wyoming, South Dakota, Indiana, Iowa and Michigan.

Prepare for Militia's Arrival

San Antonio, Texas, June 26.—With the regulars here ready for any sudden eventuality attention has been turned toward preparations for the arrival of national guardsmen and the whipping into shape of those army units which will take the place

WOULD DRAFT GUARD INTO FEDERAL SERVICE

CUT OUT APPROPRIATION FOR RELIEF OF GUARDSMEN'S FAMILIES

Senate Amends Resolution so That It Merely Authorizes President to Draft Guardsmen When He Shall Decide There is an Emergency.

Washington, June 26.—The Hay resolution providing for draft of National Guardsmen into the federal service was amended by the senate tonight to eliminate the $1,000,000 appropriation for relief of guardsmen's families. A provision was substituted, however, under which those having dependent families would be exempt from the draft.

The senate also struck out the clause declaring that in the opinion of congress an emergency exists requiring use of the state troops amending the resolution so that it merely authorizes the president to draft guardsmen whenever he shall decide there is such an emergency.

In its amended form the resolution was passed without a roll call.

There was some confusion tonight over the exact meaning of the draft authorization as finally adopted.

The language of the resolution as adopted was construed in some quarters as giving the president an unqualified power of conscription over all the national guardsmen.

Senator Clark of Wyoming who moved to strike out the declaration of any emergency said tonight his motion did not contemplate giving a conscription power to the president and he did not construe the amended resolution as conferring such authority.

It was said tonight that should it be found that the amended resolution did in fact give the president conscription power, it would be modified in conference to which probably it would be referred tomorrow.

The appropriation for the relief of dependent families of drafted guardsmen was stricken out by a vote of 45 to 30 after an all day debate.

Twenty-one Democrats and nine Republicans voted to retain the million dollar appropriation. The resolution itself was adopted without a roll call. Senator Sherman of Illinois, offered an amendment just before the final vote was taken incorporating in the resolution a virtual declaration of war against the de facto government of Mexico. The proposal was tabled but not until the Illinois senator had arraigned senators for delay in preparing for eventualities in Mexico.

"I am weary of listening to mere form of words," Senator Sherman declared. "Congress should declare here and now that a state of war exists between the United States and the de facto government of Mexico. It is the acme of idiocy to inquire of a man what his purpose is after he shoots you in the face."

Sensors Lewis and others defended the provision for a relief appropriation and Senators Chamberlain, Stone, and others spoke against it. Senator Lewis declared that if any set of men were responsible for the failure of the United States to be prepared in the present moment it was the pacifists who by teaching that war was over had made it impossible for members of congress to appropriate money for adequate defense. Senator Stone predicted that pecuniary relief from the guardsmen would make "degenerate sons of noble sires."

ANNOUNCE NEW UNITED STATES INTERNAL AGENTS DIVISION

ST. LOUIS, June 26.—A new United States internal agents division embracing the thirteenth and the eighth collection districts of Illinois with headquarters at Springfield, Ill., was announced in an official despatch by Revenue Agent Chandler here today. The St. Louis division now embracing all of Missouri only, formerly included also the thirteenth Illinois district. The eighth Illinois district was under the Chicago division heretofore. The change is effective July 1st, and revenue Agent Eram will be in charge of the new division. Closer investigation of revenue violations, particularly the evasion of emergency taxes and the income tax, is said to be the reason for the new division.

VAN VLISSINGER WILL LEAVE JOLIET PENITENTIARY JULY 25

JOLIET, Ill., June 26.—Peter Van Vliissingen, a convict in the state prison here, formerly a prominent Chicago broker who was sentenced to prison in November, 1908 for forgery which he at the time admitted would amount to more than $1,000,000 will be discharged July 25th, according to an announcement tonight by the state pardon board. Van Vliissingen was sentenced for a term of from one to fourteen years. The prisoner was with the honor squad at Camp Dunne in November, 1914, and the following month was sent to the state honor farm as clerk. He was the editor of the prison publication.

Last year Mrs. Van Vliissingen obtained a divorce from him. Van Vliissingen declares that he will leave the prison penniless.

MOOSE COMMITTEE ENDORSES HUGHES

Party Practically Goes Out of Existence as a National Organization

HOLD STORMY SESSION

Fight to Endorse Hughes is Led By Perkins, Garfield and Rowell

ROBINS OPPOSES PLAN

CHICAGO, June 26.—By a vote of 32 to 6, with nine members declining to vote, the National committee of the Progressive party today at the end of a stormy session endorsing Charles E. Hughes for president and the Bull Moose practically went out of existence as a national political organization.

Insist on Open Meeting

The fight in the committee to endorse Hughes was led by George W. Perkins of New York, James R. Garfield of Ohio and Chester H. Rowell of California. The radical element in the committee were represented by Matthew Hale of Massachusetts, Bainbridge Colby of New York, Henry F. Cochems of Wisconsin and John M. Parker of Louisiana, vigorously protested against the endorsement of any candidate for president and fought the majority at every step of the proceedings.

The minority's first move was to insist on an open meeting of the committee which it won after a number of the committeemen led by John M. Parker, voted to meet in secret.

After Secretary Oscar King Davis read in which he finally declined the presidential nomination of the party and urged that Charles E. Hughes be supported by the members of the Progressive party in order to defeat President Wilson, the committee voted to accept the editor's declaration and took a recess for luncheon. At the beginning of the afternoon session Chairman Matthew Hale of Massachusetts ruled that the next order of business was to fill the vacancy on the ticket caused by the refusal of Colonel Roosevelt to run. Bainbridge Colby of New York presented the name of Victor Murdock of Kansas, chairman of the national committee who is now on his way to China, as the party's candidate for president. This led to a clash between Raymond Robins of Illinois and Mr. Colby in which the latter was passed. Mr. Robins said Mr. Murdock had told him he would not accept the presidential nomination and the proposition to run a third party ticket was defeated after a spirited debate by a vote of 31 to 15. James R. Garfield of Ohio then introduced a resolution endorsing Hughes for president and directing the executive committee of the Progressive party to co-operate with the Republicans in the campaign.

Henry F. Cochems of Wisconsin raised the point that the committee had no authority to endorse any candidate and that its power was limited to the filling of the vacancy on the ticket caused by the refusal of Colonel Roosevelt to run.

Debate for Several Hours

Chairman Hale ruled that the motion to endorse or recommend the Republican candidate for president was out of order and a debate of several hours followed.

Finally James R. Garfield appealed from the decision of the chair and was sustained in his contention by a vote of 33 to 14. During the discussion Raymond Robins opposed making any endorsement and indicated that he would support President Wilson if the Progressives did not put a ticket in the field. Henry F. Cochems said he expected to vote for Hughes but did not want the committee to take any action. He declared that the Progressives should be permitted to go to any party they desired.

States Voting for Endorsement

The following states voted for the endorsement of Hughes on the roll call:

Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, District of Columbia, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Texas, Vermont, Virginia, Wyoming, Hawaii.

Many of the committeemen in voting took occasion to explain their vote. Harold L. Ickes of Illinois said that seventy percent of the Progressives in his state would vote for Hughes. William Flinn of Pennsylvania said that ninety-five percent of the Progressives in Pennsylvania were for Hughes.

Dr. Harris of Rhode Island said that a majority of the Progressives in his state favored Wilson.

Henry F. Cochems of Wisconsin said that he expected to vote for Hughes, but that he was opposed to any endorsement by the committee. Matthew Hale of Massachusetts said that many of the Progressives in his

War News Summarized

Turning to the offensive in Trentino and across the border in Italy where they were driven recently by the Austrians, the Italians have forced the Austrians to a general retreat along the entire front. A large number of positions have been recaptured by King Emmanuel's army and they are still on the hills of the Austrians who are declared to be rapidly falling back before the Italian advance. Vienna admits a withdrawal of the Austrian forces between the Brenita and Etzch rivers, a maneuver which it is declared was made in order to safeguard their full freedom of action.

The Russians in Bukovina have made further progress against the Austro-Hungarians in the region of Kimpolune but in the operations to the north of Kyau the Austrians have repulsed the Russian attacks, inflicting heavy casualties upon the invaders according to Vienna.

In Galicia the Russians in the region of Buczacz have at last broken the deadlock and thrown their Don Cossacks across the Dniester and occupied the villages of Siekerghine and Petruve.

Heavy fighting continues in Vorhaya especially around Sokul, to the north of Lutsk. Here Vienna says the Germans have stormed Russian positions over a front of about 3,000 meters and held the captured positions against all counter-attacks. Along the Styra from Kolk to Sokul the Germans still are bombarding the Russian positions while around Linewka, on the Stokhod river they have launched repeated infantry attacks in mass formations which Petrogard asserts were all repulsed.

In the region north of the Pripiet marshes to as far as Jacobstadt there have been intense bombardments of Russian positions by the Germans and several infantry attacks, which the Russian war office says were put down by the Russian fire.

Since Sunday night, when the French recaptured German positions between the Rumen and Chenois woods northeast of Verdun and repulsed a German attack west of Thiaumont only artillery actions have taken place. These have diminished in intensity. The British on their part of the French and Belgian line have carried out a number of successful attacks against the Germans and also have bombarded with considerable effect German positions on various sectors.

In Asiatic Turkey in the region of Trebizond, on the right bank of the Euphrates near Mosul and in the vicinity of Bagdad the Turks attempted offensive movements against the Russians. These maneuvers were everywhere repulsed, except on the Euphrates where they seized a height. Later they were ejected from it, according to Petrogard.

Additional gains for the British forces operating against the Germans in East Africa are related in a British communication.

CLINTON, I.A., BATTERY

Clinton, Ia., June 26.—Battery A., first field artillery, Iowa National guard entrained tonight for the Iowa concentration camp at Des Moines. A crowd estimated at 12,000 persons bid them farewell. The 172 men left on a special train carrying their full equipment, including two automobiles used by officers in the field. Before their departure the men participated in a big parade in which Spanish and Civil War Veterans took part besides 200 school children.

Bainbridge Colby of New York declared that he had not made up his mind as to his preference.

Welcomes Progressive Support

New York, June 26.—Charles E. Hughes, Republican nominee for president, sent a telegram to O. K. Davis, secretary of the Progressive national committee tonight, welcoming the support of the Progressive party and arraigning the present administration for its "weakness and incertitude."

In making public the contents of the telegram Mr. Hughes also gave out a letter he had written to Colonel Roosevelt in which he declared that the nation was indebted to the colonel for the quickening of the national spirit for the demand of an out-and-out 100 percent Americanism.

The candidate told Colonel Roosevelt that he had sounded forth the trumpet that never shall call retreat and "I want you to feel that I wish to have all the aid you are able and willing to give." The letter closed with an expression of a wish by Mr. Hughes to see the colonel soon.

The telegram to Secretary Davis was in response to a telegram from the secretary notifying Mr. Hughes that the Progressives had endorsed him.

ORPET TESTIFIES IN OWN DEFENSE

Tells of Meeting With Marion Lambert and of Her Death

WILL RESUME TODAY

Supports Theory That Poison Which Caused Death Was In Powdered Form

SAW GIRL DIE IN CONVULSIONS

WAUKEGAN, Ill., June 26.—William H. Orpet, the twenty year old University of Wisconsin student, charged with the murder of Marion Lambert his school girl sweetheart, took the witness stand this afternoon and told on direct examination of his meeting with her on February 9th, and of her death.

Adjournment for the night interrupted the recital, which will be resumed tomorrow.

Did Not See Her Take Poison

He did not see her take poison, nor have it about her, he testified, but he saw her die in convulsions. He supported the theory that the cyanide of potassium which caused death was taken in powdered form and not in a solution, as insisted by expert toxicologists called by the prosecution.

"I noticed a white powder on her face and one hand," he said.

The "medicine" which he gave her to relieve supposed delicate condition, he said, was simply molasses and water. He said that he knew she could not be eniente, and adopted this subterfuge to relieve her mind as she kept insisting in letters that she was alarmed at her condition.

Orpet gave an innocent interpretation of the alibi letters which he addressed to his mother and to Marion. He left Madison February 8th. In the hands of his friend, Otto Peterson, he left the two missives, post dated February 9th, to be mailed on the latter date.

He explained that his own parents would have objected to his making the trip, and that Marion's parents objected to him. In case he should be seen and stories carried to either household he figured that the letters would be taken as proof positive to the contrary.

At the meeting in the woods, he said, Marion expressed alarm at her condition and he tried to persuade her that her fears were groundless. He offered her the molasses and water to relieve her supposed condition, but she refused it, saying that it was useless.

He suggested that she would better catch her car and started away, but she called him back and asked if he was going to write to her anymore. He said he thought not and started away again.

"Something I don't know what," made him turn around, he testified. Marion had taken the poison. He could see she was having a convulsion. He returned to her and she had two more tremors. Witness said that he became dazed and remembered only flying from the woods.

He took a train back to Madison. After leaving the woods he said he threw the bottle of diluted molasses away. The bottle was recovered nine days later by K. B. Hawkins and others sent out by attorneys whom Orpet had by that time retained.

The case of the defense began at the forenoon session with the opening statement by James H. Wilkerson, chief of counsel for the defendant. The statement was completed in the afternoon and to the surprise of many, Orpet was the first witness.

Develops Periods of Weakness

Every eye turned toward him as his name was called, a slender youth of marked regularity of feature, but nothing save a natural pallor to distinguish him in a crowd. He wore a dark suit and tie. For six weeks he had sat, far down in a big chair, beside his mother with an expression which seemed part sullenness and part nervous strain. His face lighted however, as he heard his name called and with an encouraging look from Mrs. Orpet he went forward and was sworn. His voice was plainly audible at first, but soon developed periods of weakness. He recited very little save the purport of his conversation with Marion.

As had been conjectured Orpet spent the night of February 8th-9th in the garage on the McCormick estate of which his father is superintendent. He went to Helen's woods, after walking around, for an hour or more, because he did not wish to be seen. He had arranged before to meet Marion on her way to school.

NEGRO TROOPERS GO INTO BATTLE SMILING

CAPTAIN MOREY TELLS OF GRIM FIGHT AGAINST ODDS

Asserts Men Fought for Forty-five Minutes Joking Among Themselves—Pays Tribute to Valor of Capt. Boyd—Lieut. Adair Dies Fighting.

Field Headquarters, Mexico, June 26.—by wireless to Columbus, N. M. June 26.—American negro troopers faced almost certain death at Carrizal with smiles in their eyes and slang on their lips and they burst into song once or twice as they fought their grim fight against odds.

This was the story told by Captain Lewis S. Morey, when he arrived at field headquarters today.

"For forty five minutes the men fought, joking among themselves all the while, even tho they realized we had been trapped and had little chance of getting out alive," he said.

Captain Morey said that he had never seen such valor as was displayed by Captain Charles T. Boyd in leading a handful of dismounted skirmishers thru the machine gun fire and into the ambush of death. He added that it was not until their ammunition was exhausted that the troop was finally cut to pieces and "told of the heroic death of Lieutenant Enry R. Adair of Portland, Ore., in an attempt to replenish it."

Lieutenant Adair died fighting, his last words being "go on sergeant" to a non-commissioned officer at his side, Captain Morey said.

The two were on their way to the pack animals carrying the ammunition when they were intercepted near a small irrigation ditch by a detail of the Mexicans. Lieutenant Adair had already been wounded and had lost his pistol in the previous fighting, but he had borrowed another and was fighting a hand-to-hand battle when he was killed. He fell backwards unconscious as he said toward the ditch which was deeply filled with water. The sergeant held Adair in his arms, his face above the water until he died, the wounded officer reviving only long enough to whisper orders to leave him and finish the mission. Captain Morey said that Captain Boyd warned the men before the fight that they were advancing into the greatest danger. He reiterated that the Carrancistas opened fire first from their machine gun trench and asserted that almost immediately afterward a detachment of the Mexicans circled to the rear and drove off numbers of the American horses, which a few men had been left to hold while the cavalrymen dismounted in line of skirmish. The size of the battlefield and the cover from which the Mexicans fought made it necessary for his troop and that of captain Boyd to separate and to fight what were practically individual engagements. Captain Morey said.

Captain Morey was brought here by troops of the eleventh cavalry sent to rescue Carrizal survivors after having led a handful of starving panting troopers forty miles over a sun baked desert to relief. The few crumbs of foods they were carried in their handkerchiefs and in their first aid kits, while what water they had was carried in a baking powder tin which they had picked up on the roadside.

PREPARE TO IMPEDE ANY ATTEMPT AT LANDING BY AMERICAN TROOPS

WASHINGTON, June 26.—State department advices today indicated that port officials along the east coast of Mexico were preparing to impede any attempt at landing by American troops. Harbor lights and lighthouse signals on the coast of Yucatan and elsewhere have been extinguished for the last several nights.

A wireless message has been sent broadcast to ships at sea warning them not to be guided by all light-houses on Mexican coasts, the navy department announced tonight. A few have been extinguished and the characteristics of others changed so that dependence cannot be placed on them.

ORDER TROOPS TO ENTRAIN

Fort Sill, Okla., June 26.—Four batteries of the Fifth Field Artillery stationed here were ordered tonight to entrain immediately for the border, two batteries to go to Brownsville and two to El Paso. It was expected they would leave early tomorrow. These batteries were the B. C. D. and F. They are equipped with 4.7 howitzers, which throw a sixty pound projectile 6,500 yards and 4.7 inch rifles.

In addition Batteries F. and D. have howitzers capable of throwing a 120 pound projectile 6,500 yards.

EFFORTS TOWARD MEDIATION FAIL

Washington Government Sees Nothing to War- rant Arbitration

OUTLINES U. S. ATTITUDE

Lansing Confers for Half an With Ignacio Calderon, Mini- ster of Bolivia

EXPECT ANSWER SOON

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Efforts towards Latin-American mediation in the Mexican crisis, favored by Carranza officials, collapsed today without having reached the stage of a formal proposal to the United States.

It was made plain by Secretary Lansing to Ignacio Calderon, minister of Bolivia, who called with the intention of asking whether the United States would entertain an offer of the services of its southern neighbors to aid in avoiding war, that the Washington government sees nothing in the situation that would warrant arbitration proceedings.

Outlines Attitude of U. S.

Mr. Lansing talked with the minister for half an hour and is understood to have told him that the blame for the grave outlook rested squarely upon General Carranza. The attitude of the United States was so fully outlined that Mr. Calderon did not mention directly the original purpose of his visit.

When the minister left the state department he said the time "seemed inopportune" and that for the present the diplomatic representatives of six South and Central American countries who had approached the Mexican embassy on the subject of mediation and received assurances that the Carranza government was favorable to the principle would not tender their good offices to the United States. He indicated that an attempt to arrange mediation might be renewed if General Carranza's reply to Secretary Lansing's last note furnished the basis on which the proposal could be founded. The United States now is waiting for Carranza's final word in reply to the note sent yesterday demanding release of the prisoners taken at Carrizal and a formal diplomatic announcement of intentions.

Look Answer Soon

The note reached Mexico City last night. Special Agent Rodgers reported its receipt, adding that he had failed in his first efforts to place it in the hands of the Carranza minister of foreign relations. Undoubtedly it was delivered today. Officials looked for an answer within a day or two at most.

Meanwhile both congress and the war department put new energy into their preparations for war. There were indications that should a formal break occur toward the end of the week, every possible precautionary step will have been taken and General Funston will be in a position to defend the border adequately and reinforce Pershing's expedition, altho aggressive action may be delayed somewhat.

War department orders to departmental commanders called for greater haste in getting the national guard to the border. Authorization went out to accept men under the physical examinations on which they entered the state service, postponing final examination until they are enroute or have reached the border. Those found unfit will be sent back at once.

Lay Estimates Before Congress

Estimates to cover the pay and maintenance expense of the state troops, totalling $88,000,000 up to January 1st, were laid before congress. With them went figures of $13,000,000 for the purchase of horses and mules for army use. The total estimates of the quartermaster general alone pass the $100,000,000 mark.

The house passed the annual army appropriation bill after adding $26,000,000 for emergency purposes during the brief debate that preceded the vote. An urgent deficiency bill carrying $25,000,000 for national guard pay, equipment, and transportation was framed in committee for presentation to the house tomorrow.

Railroad representatives were called into conference at the war department to hasten the shipment of troops and supplies to the border. Special marks will distinguish cars with army supplies, insuring them right of way at all switching points.

Plans for military censorship over newspapers, magazines and other publications as well as over lines of communication, were talked over. A resolution conferring broad powers in this regard upon the president

For President.

CHARLES E. HUGHES.

General prosperity resulting from war orders is manifested in the postal receipts which it is estimated this year ending June 30, will set the new record of $305,000,000. This will exceed the highest record ever made before by $15,000,000 to $20,000,000. The postmaster general estimates that there will be a surplus this year from postal operations of from $1,000,000 to $3,000,000. This record will give point to claim of the railroads that the department by certain rulings has compelled them to carry mail not contemplated in their bids; and also will advance the creed of the penny postage association.

Frank H. Funk of McLean county, who was appointed a member of the state utilities commission as a representative of the Progressive party, is one of the most recent prodigals to return to the Republican fold. Mr. Funk in a statement just issued declares that he is for Mr. Hughes first, last and all the time and that he will do everything possible in support of the candidate. There is nothing at all surprising about Mr. Funk's announcement, as it merely gives evidence of a change of heart previously known. Republicans who have stayed by the organization throughout the years are not killing any "fatted calves" over these returning wanderers, but are finding satisfaction nevertheless, in these returns, giving knowledge as they do that Republican party, ascendancy is only a few months distant.

Altho the question has been answered many times already, it is not generally understood that women of Illinois can vote for president in the election next November. The suffrage law passed in 1913 gives women the right to vote for the presidential electors, who represent the legal voters of Illinois in the electoral college, and will there vote for the candidate favored by the voters who have honored them. Thus while women cannot vote for all candidates in the November election, they have equal rights with men in voting for president and vice president, and judging from the increasing interest that women are showing in political affairs of the state they will not fail to let their wishes be known on election day.

Political leaders generally admit the advantage the Republicans have this year from the fact that the Republican national convention was not dominated by any individual or any special group. More so than has been recorded for a number of years the nomination of the candidate was the result of a certain demand from the people. The delegates harkened to that voice and this very fact will be of the greatest aid to the party throughout the campaign. The difference in the management of the Republican and Democratic conventions, the latter ruled wholly by one man, makes a strong appeal to the independent voter. The one man influence of the Democratic convention was so strong that some Democrats, even, can now be classed as independents because they feel that having had no real "say so" in the Democratic convention, that they are not responsible for the outcome of the campaign.

EARLY MORNING

The early morning's glory has baffled all the poets; no one can chart its glory in comprehensive notes. I'd fain describe its splendor, but when I take my pen, I ruin a suspender, and give it up again. For e'en a bard of Avon might punch his golden lyre, until he grew a spavin, and felt his muscles tire—he could not do it justice; no bard can do that same, altho his marble bust is perched in the Hall of Fame. A Milton or a Spenser might write majestic junk, and then methinks the censor would mark the product "funk." Some themes are far too lofty for mortal words, I think; and no one but a softy will rattle them with ink. And when I see the morning, the slowly rising sun, whose first rays are adorning the landscape green and dun; the never ending wonder that in the dawning lies, when Night's veils torn asunder, disclosing gleaming skies, I view the scene of splendor, but when an ode I'd sing, I spoil a good suspender and cannot chant a thing.

DATES IN ILLINOIS HISTORY.

"We Cannot Go Back"—Taft

Former President Taft who has consistently expressed the hope that the United States might be kept from war with Mexico and who has done his part towards bringing this condition to pass, is now of the opinion that war is inevitable. In a recent address he said that the United States had gone too far into Mexico now to turn back. "We must go on now," he said, "and the problem which will be ours will be practically the same as the country accepted when we took over the Philippines."

The former president believes that an army 250,000 strong will be sufficient to pacify the country and that conditions there can be put on a satisfactory and firm basis in three years' time. Mr. Taft is more sanguine than a number of public men, who, while by no means doubting the ability of the United States to handle the Mexican situation, believe that because of the character of the people and the guerilla warfare that will be carried on, that a long period of years would pass before all the warring bands would pass fully under control.

Peace Loving But Ill Advised.

There are many peace loving folk in this country who have good intentions but who do not use much judgment. People of this class framed a message sent Sunday by the International Welfare Association to President Wilson. It ran: "Why is this nation being permitted to drift helplessly into war? We demand a conference on the points at issue or a conference of the working class organizations of each country, and before war is declared in any event we demand a referendum be taken of all the people."

In the minds of a great many there has already been too much correspondence in the handling of the Mexican situation. To take a vote on such a matter is clearly beyond the range of possibilities. The government authorities of this country have submitted to a series of indignities and to wait for a declaration of war until the people of the United States had time to vote on the question would furnish enough time for the complete annihilation of the present United States forces.

The trouble with many of these well meaning peace loving people is that they forget the kind of foe America must deal with in meeting Mexico.

A Nation's Voice.

No more convincing demonstration of the vitality of religion in the United States could be found than the result of the appeals of the Federal Council of the churches of Christ in America for systematic and continuous giving to the war relief funds in this country. In every community, whether a church of one of the thirty denominations which constitute the Federal Council exists there or not, both secular and denominational committees for war relief are being formed.

The effect of the Federal Council's first appeal, sent out on May 15 to 100,000 ministers, did not stop with them and the 17,742,509 communicants under their charge, but seemed automatically to create a new atmosphere in the nation. In response to the request of many of the representatives of the war relief organizations which have benefited by this new spirit of unselfishness and self-sacrifice a second appeal was sent out this month, but not to the churches alone.

The second appeal was thru the clergy to the entire people but it also went direct to Chamber of Commerce, Business Men's Associations, Women's Clubs and similar bodies, and to the Mayors of cities and governors of states. Many public men, of all political affiliations, have signified their approval of this movement. The nation has found voice in this largest inclusive body of its kind in the world.

Roosevelt Endorses Hughes.

The promised endorsement of Mr. Hughes by Colonel Roosevelt in his letter to Progressives and to the public generally was as strong as the warmest supporter of Mr. Hughes could hope for. Colonel Roosevelt, who can never rightly be called a "pussyfoot" either in word or deed, comes out with a statement in which he points out in a clear and succinct way the fallacy of continuing the Progressive party. Just as clearly and tersely he emphasizes the failure of the Wilson administration and shows that the only hope the country has for the return of national honor as embodied by Washington, Lincoln and the great national heroes, is by the election of Mr. Hughes.

Colonel Roosevelt refers to the "unbending integrity" of Mr. Hughes, credits him with "original and trained ability," and affirms that the candidate gives every reason for believing that his "words will be correlated into deeds and these translated into facts." The letter is not a mere heaping of encomiums upon Mr. Hughes' head, but rather an open impartial summing up of the abilities of a strong man—one whom Mr. Roosevelt recognizes as thoroughly competent to meet the present situation.

The strongest part of the letter is found in the appeal that Colonel Roosevelt makes for the candidate "as a pure matter of patriotism." The Progressives are urged to put aside all personal thought and prejudices and to make the good of their country the paramount consideration. Mr. Roosevelt believes that if Progressives look at the situation from this viewpoint that they will inevitably turn to Mr. Hughes and lend him their unwavering support just in the line of patriotic duty.

SCHOOL BOARD FINANCES.

Several days ago the suggestion was made that the question of the financial status of the board of education be taken up for discussion. The object of such discussion is to learn the wishes of the people with regard to the method to be employed.

The situation is without precedent but we understand the board of education proposes to proceed upon the assumption that the body of the district being the same as heretofore, the income accruing to the former board and the indebtedness incurred by the former board are to be taken up as the affairs of the district.

We understand that when all the funds left over have been paid out on the indebtedness outstanding, there will remain a considerable sum still to be paid.

The question then arising is whether expenses are to be restricted to the point of paying current expenses and saving something annually towards paying the accumulated indebtedness, or, whether the district may choose to provide for this back indebtedness in some other way.

Supposing the back indebtedness to be $20,000! If no different arrangement shall be made, it will be for the board of education to scale the expenses down to a point enough below the regular income so that that sum can be accumulated.

How long will that take? If a saving of $5,000 per annum can be accomplished it will take four years. During that four years the class now entering freshmen and all the classes before will have the burden of the limitations. Is this what the community wishes?

The people can order differently if they choose and they can take the matter up themselves. The board of education may not feel like asking anything. There is no reason why the board should. The responsibility of the board will have been discharged when they give the district the best schools practicable with the funds provided.

It is practicable, however, for the people to petition for an election at which to authorize the board to levy as high as two per cent for educational purposes. This increased levy may continue only so long as the voters wish. It may be recalled at any future time. It is not necessary that the increase should be so large as the half of one per cent.

The following figures are illustrative. The limit of one and one half per cent produces approximately $64,000. If the schools can be conducted within this limit, together with the other sources of income, the debt, if not more than $20,000 can be met by increasing the levy to two per cent for one year. By increasing it for two years a fund can be accumulated which will help to tide the board over so as to delay the issuing of anticipation warrants. By extending limit for three years the necessity for anticipation warrants may be done away with entirely, if it transpires that the legitimate expenses of the schools can be kept within the normal income.

AUTOS IN ACCIDENT.

An automobile driven by Dr. A. E. Obermeyer of Arcadia and another by J. F. Claus collided on the state road a few miles east of Jacksonville Sunday night about 9:30 o'clock. Fortunately none of the occupants were injured and no serious damage was done to the cars.

The Price Increases Next Month

THIS is the last month that you can get a National Twelve for $1,990. Next month it will cost you more.

In spite of the fact that the National factory is now one of the largest producers of high-grade cars—and in spite of the fact that they delivered this year more than three times as many cars as during any previous year, it is impossible to continue to sell the National Twelve for $1,990.

Nor can National quality be reduced even the slightest degree. For, did not hundreds of National Twelve owners buy their cars on National reputation alone?

National Twelves are in daily service in every State in the Union.

These National Highway Twelve owners will tell you that they never thought it would be possible for such marked improvements to be made.

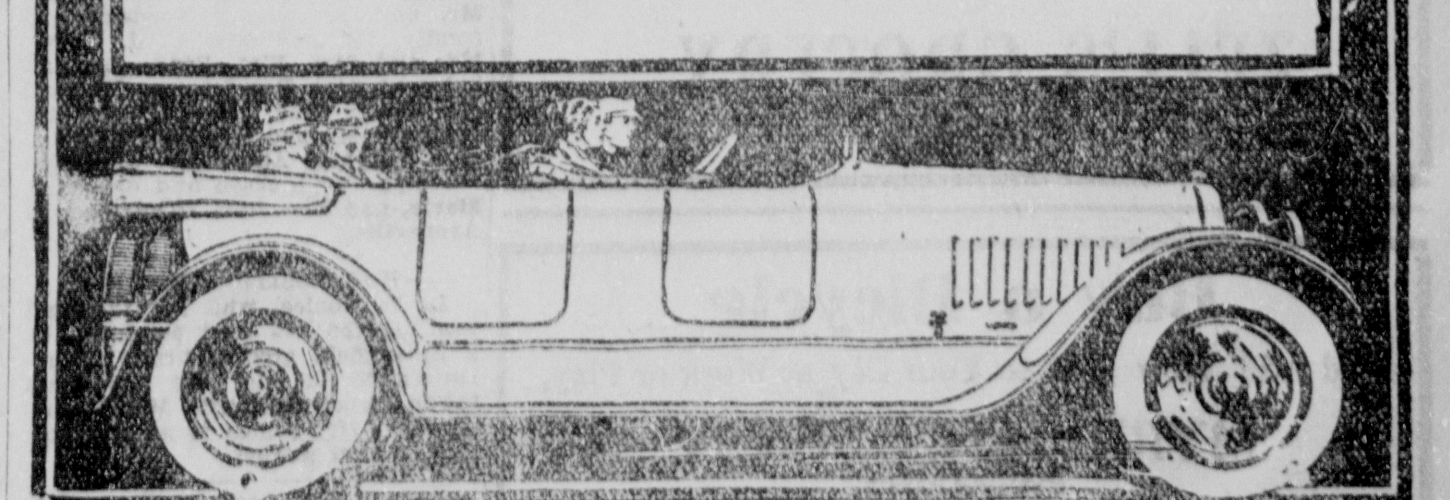

They bought "Highway" Twelves solely on the strength of the National name—when you buy your Twelve, you get not only this guarantee of one of the oldest, most reliable, most successful factories, but in addition you may know that National Twelves are rendering service, pride and pleasure to many of the most discriminating motorists.

National designs and builds its own Twelve-cylinder motors. Soon, motor or parts makers will be turning out twelve-cylinder engines by the tens of thousands, engines patterned after the Twelve pioneers.

Eventually you won't think of anything but the Twelve—but why wait? Why not have the most up-to-date and most efficient car today?

Cot acquainted with the National Highway Twelve. You're cheating yourself every day you put it off. It is America's best looking car.

ILLINOIS MILITARY LEAVE TONIGHT

of the troops now stationed along the Rio Grande.

Twelve thousand guardsmen are expected to start for somewhere in Texas before morning. Nine thousand others are expected to follow immediately and within ten days General Funston is expected to have 70,000 to supplement the regular army units at his disposal. Supplies of all descriptions are being purchased in enormous quantities. Buildings at all strategic points along the border are being hired to supplement the storage facilities at the army posts. The city commission of San Antonio today granted permission to all railroads entering this city to lay spur tracks across streets and establish yards which will facilitate the handling of supply shipments.

Bids were opened here today for 73,000 animals, including 20,000 draft and pack mules and 53,000 cavalry and artillery mounts. The total cost will be more than $10,000,000.

Re-inforce Naco Garrison

Word was received at headquarters today that a force of 1,500 Mexican troops had arrived opposite Naco, Ariz. General Funston said the American officers were confident that they knew the object of the movement. It was announced at headquarters tonight that re-inforcements had been sent to the garrison at Naco, Ariz. The point from which these troops were sent was withheld.

General Pershing has reported that he is drawing in his advanced detachments holding his force in such positions as to make an effective movement in any direction that the trend of events may demand. General Funston has not received word that the two squadrons of the Eleventh Cavalry sent to discover the fate of Captain Boyd's command engaged at Carrizal had been ordered back to the main column. It was said that while this detachment had not reached the town of Carrizal itself, as such an advance probably would have meant another clash, it apparently had finished the work for which it was sent out.

Anxiety has been expressed among army officers as to whether those Americans killed at Carrizal have been buried by the Mexicans. It is hoped that they were not left to the dogs and vultures.

It was she, he said, who suggested that they go into the woods. She had come to the little interurban station of the Sacred Heart convent with Josephine Davis. She did not take the train which Josephine and the other girls took however. When the train pulled out leaving Marion alone, Orpet came from the edge of the woods where he had been hiding and joined her on the platform.

He suggested, he said, that they go into the little waiting room but she pointed to the woods and suggested that they go there. This they did.

Interrupt Orpet's Testimony.

Orpet's testimony was interrupted to allow Mr. Hawkins to testify as to the finding of the bottle, as he is a member of Battery C, 1. N. G., and under orders to proceed at once to the mobilization camp at Springfield. He appeared in uniform and testified in great detail as to the finding of the bottle on February 18th.

When Orpet resumed he said that his first interview with his attorneys was so brief and he was so dazed and nervous over his affairs that he forgot to tell about it. Then the state's attorney, Ralph J. Dady, he said, began quizzing him about buying a two ounce bottle, and put such a tragic aspect on it as being the last link in a chain of convincing circumstances that he determined to say nothing of the bottle which he actually did purchase of Charles Hazingier, a drug clerk at Madison.

MEXICANS DEMOLISH UNITED STATES CONSULATE AT TORREON

Carranza Troops Force Populace to Join in an Anti-American Demonstration, According to Refugees.

Eagle Pass, Texas, June 26.—The United States consulate at Torreon, Mexico, was demolished June 18th, by a mob of 3,000 civilians led by the mayor of the city and a Carranza army band, according to American refugees arriving here late today. The populace was attending a bull fight, according to the refugees, when de facto troops forced them to join in an anti-American demonstration.

The mob rushed thru the streets shouting "death to all the gringos" and upon reaching the consulate, tore up the furniture and then destroyed the building. After destroying the American consulate the mob congregated in the central plaza of the town where a mass meeting was held. The mayor and other prominent Mexicans, it is said, addressed this meeting, inciting the populace against Americans, advising that all citizens of the United States be run out of the country.

Among the Americans arriving here with this story are H. G. Boren, J. J. Martin, J. A. Rogers, F. M. Howard, L. S. Speckelmeyer, E. A. Porter and his son; Willis Lee, W. H. Sturgeon and family, Mrs. Mary Love and her two sons.

All these refugees are enroute to their homes in various parts of the United States.

W. D. Dillender of St. Louis was a visitor in the city Sunday.

May Necessitate Return.

In the senate the national guard draft resolution was passed with amendments which will necessitate its return to the house and possibly a conference before its final approval. Army officials await with impatience the authority it grants to consolidate incomplete units of the national guard. They estimate that under the new orders, some companies will be promptly depleted at the border by the men discovered to be physically unfit on final examination. If they can combine these incomplete units for immediate service and add new companies as recruits are sent south, there will be little delay in getting all available men into active service.

Indications tonight were that 10,000 men additional might reach the border this week. In two weeks probably 50,000 could be transported south, and within three weeks the whole force summoned under resident Wilson's call might be moved.

It was still impossible tonight to make an accurate estimate as to the force which would be added to General Funston's command within the next few days.

SPRINGFIELD VISITORS

ROOSEVELT DECLARES U. S. NEEDS HUGHES

LETTER TO PROGRESSIVES URGES THEM OF THINK OF COUNTRY FIRST.

Former President Says Third Party Members Well Knew Attitude Before Convention—Peril of the Hour Demand a Strong and Vigorous Administration In Contrast to That of Wilson—Hughes is Lauded.

Oyster Bay, N. Y. June 26.—To the Progressive National Committee:

Gentlemen—In accordance with the message I sent to the Progressive National Convention as soon as I had received the notification that it had nominated me for President, I now communicate to you my reasons for declining the honor which I so deeply appreciate. Since the adjournment of the Convention, I have received between two and three thousand letters and telegrams from men who had supported me for the nomination, the majority expressing the desire that I would refuse to run, while a minority urged that I should accept the nomination. As it is a physical impossibility to answer these letters and telegrams individually, I beg of the courtesy of the senders that they will accept this public statement in lieu of such answers.

Praise for Progressives

Before speaking of anything else, I wish to express my heartiest and most unstinted admiration for the character and services of the men and women who made up the Progressive National Convention in 1916. I can give them no higher praise than to say that in all respects they stood level with the men and women who in 1912 joined at Chicago to found the Progressive Party. These two conventions, in character, in high purpose, and in desire to render practical service to the people, typified exactly what such bodies ought to be in a great self-governing democracy. They represented the spirit which moved Abraham Lincoln and his political associates during the decade preceding the Civil War. The platform put forth in 1912 was much the most important public document promulgated in this country since the death of Abraham Lincoln. It represented the first effort on a large scale to translate abstract formulas of economic and social justice into concrete American Nationalism; the effort to apply the principles of Washington and Lincoln to the need of the United States in the twentieth century. No finer effort was ever made to serve the American people, in a spirit of high loyalty to all that is loftiest in the American tradition.

Events have shown that the Progressive Party in 1912 offered the only alternative to the triumph of the Democratic Party. Moreover, these events have shown that the application of the principles which we then advocated is even more necessary to this nation than we at the time supposed.

Industrial Preparedness

The results of the terrible world war of the past two years have now made it evident to all who are willing to see, that in this country there must be spiritual and industrial preparedness, along the lines of efficiency, of loyal service to the Nation, and of practical application of the precept that each man must be his brother's keeper. Furthermore, it is no less evident, that this preparedness for the tasks of peace forms the only sound basis for that indispensable military training, and which rests on universal military training, and which finds expression in universal obligatory service in time of war. Such universal obligatory training and service are the necessary complements of universal suffrage, and represent the realization of the true American, the democratic, ideal in both peace and war.

Sooner or later the national principles championed by the Progressives of 1912 must in their general effect be embodied in the structure of our national existence. With all my heart I will continue to work for these great ideals, shoulder to shoulder with the men and women who in 1912 championed them; and I am sure that these men and women will show a like loyalty to the other, the fundamental, ideas which the events of the past two years have proven to be vital to the permanency of our national existence. The method by which we are to show our loyalty to these ideals must be determined in each case by the actual event. Our loyalty is to the fact, to the principle, to the ideal, and not merely to the name, and least of all to the party name.

The Progressive movement has been given an incalculable impetus by what the Progressive Party has done. Our strongest party antagonists have accepted and enacted into law, or embodied in their party platforms, very many of our most important principles. Much has been accomplished in awakening the public to a better understanding of the problems of social and industrial welfare.

Yet it has become entirely evident that the people under existing conditions are not prepared to accept a new party.

Must Not Sulk

It is impossible for us Progressives to abandon our convictions. But we are faced with the fact that as things are the Progressive National organization no longer make the means whereby we carry out these convictions effective in our national life. Under such circumstances, our duty is to do the best we can, and not to sulk because our leadership is rejected. That we ourselves continue to believe that the course we advocated was in the highest interest of the American people is aside from the question. It is unpatriotic to refuse to do the best possible merely because the people have not put us in position to do what we regard as the very best. It remains for us, good humoredly and with common sense, to face the situation and endeavor to get out of it the best that it can be made to yield from the standpoint of the interests of the nation as a whole.

Administration Arraigned.

This was the situation at the opening of the present year. It was clearly evident that unless a cataclysm occurred the presidential election would result in the choice of either the Republican or the Democratic nominee. The present administration, during its three years of life, had been guilty of shortcomings more signal than those of any administration since the days of Buchanan. From the standpoint of national honor and interest, it stood on an even lower level than the administration of Buchanan. No administration in our history had done more to relax the spring of the national will and to deaden the national conscience. Within the Republican Party conflicting forces were at work. There were men among the organization leaders who advocated a course of action such as offered no improvement upon the Democratic position, and advocated the nomination of candidates whose election would have represented no improvement upon the continuance in office of Mr. Wilson. If such a course were followed, it would obviously become our duty to run a third ticket. But it was plainly our duty to do everything honorable in order to prevent such a necessity; to do everything short of sacrificing our most sacred convictions in order to secure the alignment under one leadership of the forces opposed to the continuance in power of Mr. Wilson and the Democratic Party.

Under these circumstances the Progressive National Committee, at Chicago, in January, outlined our duty to seek common action with the Republican Party, using the following words: "Our people are seeking leadership—leadership of the highest order and most courageous character; leadership that will draft to itself for the country's benefit the unselfish and patriotic services of its ablest citizens. The surest way to secure for our country the required leadership will be by having, if possible, both the Progressive and Republican Parties choose the same standard bearer and the same principles."

Six weeks later, on March 9th in my Trinidad statement, I asked for a similar combination against the Democratic Party, on a platform of "clean-cut, straight-out National Americanism," and for a candidate "who will not merely stand for such a programme before election, but will resolutely and in good faith put it thru if elected."

In addition to these public statements I had also stated my own attitude verbally, and in letters, during the weeks immediately preceding the convention, to scores of leading Progressives from all parts of the country, including many of the leaders at the convention.

Will Support Hughes Strongly.

In my judgment, the nomination of Mr. Hughes meets the conditions set forth in the statement of the Progressive National Committee, issued last January, and in my own statements. Under existing conditions, the nomination of a third ticket would, in my judgment, be merely a move in the interest of the election of Mr. Wilson. I regard Mr. Hughes as a man whose public record is a guarantee that "he will not merely stand for a program of clean-cut straight-out Americanism before election, but will resolutely and in good faith put it thru if elected." He is beyond all comparison better fitted to be President than Mr. Wilson. It would be a grave detriment to the country to re-elect Mr. Wilson. I shall, therefore, strongly support Mr. Hughes. Such being the case, it is unnecessary to say that I cannot accept the nomination on a third ticket. I believe that when my fellow Progressives really consider the question they will for the most part take this position. They and I have but one purpose—the purpose to serve our common country. It is my deep conviction that at this moment we can serve it only by supporting Mr. Hughes.

It is urged against Mr. Hughes that he was supported by the various so-called German-American Alliances. I believe that the attitude of these professional German-Americans was due, not in the least to any liking for Mr. Hughes, but solely to their antagonism to me. They were bound to defeat me for the nomination. The only way by which they could achieve this object was by supporting Mr. Hughes and they supported him accordingly, without any regard to other considerations.

Mr. Hughes' character and his whole course of conduct in public affairs justify us in the assured conviction that the fact that these men have for their own purposes supported him will, in no shape or way, affect his public actions before or after election. His entire public life is a guarantee of this.

Wilson Course Timid.

The events of the last three and a half years have shown that as much cannot be said for Mr. Wilson. In Mr. Wilson's case we do not have to consider his words, but his deeds. His deeds absolutely contradict his words; and for the matter of that his words absolutely contradict one another. It is folly to pay heed to any of the promises in the platform on which he now stands in view of the fact that almost every important pro-

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Garman of the vicinity of Litchfield are visiting their daughter, Mrs. William Helper, on Michigan avenue. Mr. Garman is 91 years old and his wife is 81 and both are hale and hearty and able to enjoy life to the full. Mr. Garman was born in Devonshire, England, and came to this country at an early age and first followed the calling of drayman in Alton but decided the country was the best place for a poor beginner so he studied carefully the best methods of farming and by industry, frugality and good management he rapidly advanced and now owns over four hundred acres of fine Montgomery county land.

Many years ago he said he came to Jacksonville to consult Dr. David Prince and after he had told the man of medicine his troubles he received a prescription to be filled at Hockenhull's drug store. He asked the doctor for his bill and was told it was five dollars and also the doctor told him when his medicine was out to come back if he needed more medicine or advice but he said, with a twinkle in his eye, that he had not been back.

He has lived in his present home 51 years and ranks among the pioneer settlers of Montgomery county. They celebrated their golden wedding some time since.

GAME AT NICHOLS' PARK SUNDAY AFTERNOON A FARCE

Twelve Errors Made by Both Teams
—White Out of Form — Hurd Bros. Weak Team.

A comedy of errors does not express the farce that was pulled off at Nichols Park Sunday afternoon when Hurd Brothers of Peoria defeated Jacksonville by a score of 11 to 6. Hurd Brothers had undoubtedly the weakest lineup that has appeared here this year. The locals seemed to appreciate this for they played the poorest game of the season.

Charley White was badly out of form in fact that old expression that he had only his glove and a prayer did not fit in his case. White had the glove but he didn't seem to have even the prayer. He walked four men and two of them counted. In addition to this his support was weird. That about expresses it. The locals not only made errors of commission but the errors of omission were equally bad. During the afternoon they amassed a total of seven errors, most of them costly.

Hurd Brothers as we remarked before did not do much better. Ray, who did the hurling had a big round house curve but it seemed to be too good enough for the local batters. They only got six hits, three of which were made by Clark. The visitors mixed up errors at opportune times and tried to present Jacksonville with the game but they wouldn't accept it and handed it right back again.

It would be too wearisome to tell how the runs were made. In fact it would be a difficult task. Three times during the afternoon the count was knotted. In the sixth Jacksonville got one run to the good and it looked like the game was won. However, in the eighth the visitors counted three runs on two hits and took the lead but only momentarily for Jacksonville came right back and tied the count. The visitors made five runs in the ninth and got so far ahead the locals didn't even try to catch up. The score:

HELPFUL HINTS FOR HOUSEWIVES

Kitchen Apron That Fastens Without Strings.

An apron without strings has recently made its appearance. Designed not for the use of the mistress of the 4 o'clock teapot, but for hard and severe use in the kitchen by the housewife or for doctors and nurses who may be called upon to do work which would call for some such protection as is afforded by a large, heavy apron.

This apron is entirely stringless, but the place of strings is taken by springs, two of which are imbedded in the fabric of the apron at the waist and neck, and for this reason they may be instantly adjusted or removed.

Strawberry Charlotte.

Make a boiled custard with a quart of milk, yolks of six eggs and three-quarters of a cupful of sugar. Flavor to taste. Line a glass dish with slices of sponge cake dipped in sweet cream. Lay on them ripe strawberries sweetened to taste, then a layer of cake and strawberries as before. When the custard is cold pour over the whole. Then beat the whites of the eggs to a stiff froth, add a little sugar and put over the top. Decorate with ripe strawberries.

The Sewing Machine Belt.

Instead of stopping your work when the sewing machine belt gets loose and taking time then to cut it off and fasten it simply slip a few large rubber bands over the small wheel. They will hold the belt firmly until time for permanent repairs can be taken. Do not cut your sewing machine belt when it gets loose. Instead put a few drops of castor oil on the band, run the machine a few minutes, and it will be tightened.

Horseradish Sauce For Beef.

A tablespoonful of butter, a level tablespoonful of browned flour, a quarter level teaspoonful of salt, a cupful of meat stock, half a teaspoonful of chopped parsley, two tablespoonfuls of horseradish. Melt the butter, add the flour and mix thoroughly. Add the salt and the meat stock. Boil three minutes. Add the parsley and horseradish. Pour the sauce around the meat.

Fried Green Tomatoes.

Select tomatoes that show no signs of turning even yellow, for during the turning process there is a disagreeable acid flavor; cut them in two, pour boiling water over them and set on the stove where they will keep warm but not cook for about fifteen minutes. Then drain and dry with a cloth, dip in egg, then cornmeal, and fry in boiling fat.—Country Gentleman.

Veal Croquettes.

Grind two cupfuls of cooked veal, add salt, pepper, celery salt, one teaspoonful of onion juice. Make a cream sauce of one and one-half cupfuls of milk, four tablespoonfuls of butter, six tablespoonfuls of flour. Add sauce to seasoned veal. Cool, shape into pyramids, dip in crumbs. Fry in deep fat.

Suet Pudding.

One cupful of suet after it is chopped fine, one cupful of molasses, one cupful of sweet milk, one egg, two cupfuls of flour, one teaspoonful of soda, one cupful of raisins. Steam two hours. Serve with lemon sauce.

Chocolate Stains.

To remove chocolate stains from white dresses or table linen sprinkle the stain thickly with borax, place a saucer beneath it and pour on just enough water to moisten. Leave for several hours and then wash.

To Clean Muslin.

To clean fine muslin blouses, table centers, etc., dissolve a tablespoonful of borax in a gallon of water. Put the muslins into this and let them remain for half an hour; then gently rub them out in fine white suds.

Dry Curtains on Poles.

When laundering curtains of fish net or other heavy lace try hanging them up on the rods at the window while wet. They will be found to dry evenly and keep their shape better than if ironed.

Baking a Custard.

Do not have too hot an oven, when baking custard or the custard will become watery. Set the custard in a pan of hot water and be sure the water does not boil during the cooking.

THE "ENDLESS CHAIN" DANGER OF CATARRH

S. S. S. the Proper Safeguard.

Catarrh is a "cold" in its chronic form. The air is filled with bacteria which is taken into the mouth and nose through the process of breathing. When the body is in a healthy condition no harm results. But with our modern methods of indoor living and sedentary occupations, the mucous membranes are usually not able to "throw-off" this harmful bacteria, making catarrh a very common ailment. These germs breed and multiply, causing inflammation, the blood rushes to the membranes to fight off the bacilli. When the blood is in a vigorous condition its "defensive" efforts are successful. Otherwise the cold "hangs on"—turns into catarrh.

Catarrh is a chronic inflammation of the mucous membranes. Mucous membranes are the lining on all the internal cavities of the body. Get that—ALL cavities! There is the "endless chain" element of danger.

The only way to treat catarrh is to purify the blood. The surest way to purify the blood is to take S. S. S. Write us for special advice. Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Georgia.

REPORTS OF ADVERSE CROP CONDITIONS LIFT WHEAT

Closing Quotations are ½ to ¾ of a Cent Net Higher—Improved Demand from Shippers Strengthens Coarse Grains.

Chicago, June 26.—Reports of black rust and other adverse crop conditions in the southwest together with increased prospect of war with the Carranzistas tended today to bring an upturn in the wheat market here. Largely as a result closing quotations altho unsettled were half to ¾ cent higher with July at $1.61½ and Sept. at $1.04½. Corn finished unchanged to ¼ up, oats varying from ½ decline to ¼ advance and provisions at a rise of 7½ to 20c.

Word that blackrust had developed in Kansas wheat carried prices here to the topmost point of the day. It was said however, that the rust was not of the dreaded spring wheat kind and that possibly the damage would be confined to fields standing in water. Only 200,000 bushels of United States wheat was reported as having been sold today to Europe.

Coarse grains were strengthened by an improved demand from shippers, including export sales of 200,000 bushels of corn and 250,000 bushels of oats. It was said 1,500,000 bushels of corn would be shipped from here this week. Higher temperatures, tho, acted somewhat as a bearish offset on corn. Excellent crop reports made the bulls timid regarding oats.

Highest prices of the season were reached for pork and ribs (bacon). The basis for the advance was rise in the value of hogs. Announcement from Liverpool that a movement was in progress there to boycott bacon from the United States appeared to have no effect on the market here.

LIQUIDATION OF STOCKS IS PRESUMED ON BROADER BASIS

New York, June 26.—Last week's liquidation was resumed on a broader basis today, the movement being one of almost steady decline, with some slight recovery at the close. The Mexican situation was again the paramount factor, altho other developments, such as the federal court order directing the dissolution of the Corn Products Refining company and less optimism regarding crop prospects helped to bring about the general shrinkage of values.

Corn products common, on an extraordinary overturn made an extreme decline of 5½ to 13½; with 11 for the preferred at 85. Mexicans averaged losses of two to four points with 5 for Petroleum and Motors and the war group were 2 and 3 points down with 9½ for Bethlehem Steel before it rebounded.

United States Steel manifested actual heaviness for the first time in weeks, declining 1½ to 82½ with but little recovery.

Coppers and zinc shares were heavy to weak. The weakness of standard rails, particularly Reading which also was the most active feature was perhaps the most disconcerting feature of the session.

Total sales of stock amounted to 670,000 shares. The Atchafalaya system reported a net increase of $1,554,000 for May. In the exchange markets the only noticeable change was the greater firmness of rates on Paris. Bonds were heavy. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

CHARITIES COMMISSION MAKES REPORT TO THE GOVERNOR

Program of Improvement for Jails and Almshouses Is Outlined.

A program for the improvement of jails, almshouses and the relief of the poor is contained in the sixth annual report of the State Charities Commission, which has gone to Governor Dunne. Summarized the Commission urges the following:

Legislation which will lodge in the Governor's hands the power to close jails and almshouses which do not conform to a decent standard of care and treatment.

The adoption of the Indiana law which requires all township overseers of the poor to file duplicates of all orders for relief, with a central state authority.

A commission to investigate housing conditions in Illinois and to report to the General Assembly an adequate bill for the regulation of construction of habitation.

A state work house or State penal farm for petty offenders, such as the federal government, Toronto, Massachusetts and Indiana, have established. Such a farm, the Commission contends, would remove from the county jail all prisoners except those awaiting trial and unable to give bond. To this particular class, the Commission recommends that probation be extended liberally.

Under the present system men are compelled to remain in jail awaiting grand jury action or their trial, simply because they are poor. They would be permitted their liberty, if they had money, or if they had a friend to go on their bond.

The enactment of a law prohibiting the paying of a per diem rate to a sheriff for the feeding of the prisoners in his jail.

The creation of the position of public defender. In this connection, the Commission says it believes in the monthly grand jury, especially in the more populous counties.

An optional law, permitting two or more adjoining counties to join in the erection and maintenance of a district almshouse.

The enactment of strenuous laws prohibiting a county letting out its poor farm and the care of its public poor to the highest bidder for the land and the lowest for the maintenance of the inmate. The custom prevails in twenty-seven counties in Illinois and is characterized as a "disgrace to our State and a reproach to our civilization."

A renewal of its recommendation that the State architect system be abolished. This was strongly urged in the fifth annual report of this Commission.

The repeal of the support or reimbursing section of the State charities code. These sections of the law provide that patients in insane hospitals who have means or who have relatives with means, must reimburse the State Annually for the expense of their maintenance.

The Commission urges a regulation providing that nurses from the State hospital shall be called to accompany adjudged patients from their homes to the hospital.

The Commission denounces the practice prevailing in some counties of sending female children to public or private institutions in charge of male officers. For the same reason it urges the employment of female probation officers, saying: "It would be wholly superfluous to elaborate on this proposition. The idea of turning a female offender over to male probation officers, as is done in some counties, is too appalling to be considered."

The last recommendation of the Commission pertains to the care of the convalescent insane patient after his release from the State hospital. The Commission believes that it is the State's duty to provide care and supervision for the patient after his release and until such time as he is fully recovered and is able to take care of himself.

SOME FARM THEMES.

Dead Hog Prices Increased.

The Chicago Live Stock Exchange announces that an increase in the price for dead hogs in this market has been secured and that until further notice 1 3-4 cents a pound will be paid for all dead hogs weighing 100 pounds or more. This is the highest price paid in the Chicago market for dead hogs during a period of at least twenty years, and this price was paid only for a few months at that time.

Hogs continue to be marketed here much lighter in weight than is customary, receipts last week having averaged only 222 pounds, comparing with 231 pounds one year ago, 233 pounds two years ago and 244 pounds three years ago. The big packers have been averse to the advancing tendency of prices at times, and they have brought in a good many hogs consigned direct to their Chicago plants, the object being to hold the market down. On the other hand, country shippers have been holding back their hogs so generally that last week saw several good advances in prices. The much-talked-about big receipts for June are not forthcoming and prime hogs have been selling at the highest prices ever known at this season of the year.

Provisions are bringing far higher prices than a year ago, and they usually follow the same course as hog prices, lately reflecting betterment in the cash trade. Foreign requirements are expected to continue on an enormous scale indefinitely, and this means high values. Recent sales of pork for future delivery have shown advances of as much as $5 a barrel over prices paid a year ago, with similar advances shown in lard and other live of provisions.—W. W. Foote, in the Farmers' Review, Chicago.

PIG-CLUB RESULTS.

Arouses Interest in Live Stock and Provides Profitable and Instructive Work for Members.

The pig-club work has been carried on by the Bureau of Animal Industry of this department during the past year in cooperation with the State Agricultural Colleges of Alabama, Arkansas, California, Georgia, Indiana, Kentucky, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Nebraska, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Oregon and Texas. Pig clubs were organized among the farm children and proved means of arousing further interest in live stock, and at the same time furnished profitable and instructive work to the members.

The economic objects of the pig clubs are: To teach the members how to raise better swine cheaply; to give the members a means of earning profits; and to afford the members a practical insight into the business side of farming. Indirectly, the improvement of the swine of the country and the general introduction of better and cheaper swine-raising methods are purposed.

Each pig-club member is required to keep a record of his pig-feeding work and report that at the end of the State contest. Many unusually successful records have been made. These are not typical of the work, but rather represent its possibilities. A summary and the average of the work of many members give a better indication of the value of the pig-club work.

In the 13 States named, 11,632 members were enrolled last year in the pig clubs. Not all were active members, but most of these raised pigs. While a great many reported more or less completely on their work, 1,608 members from 11 states with a membership of 11,032, reported completely on weights, values, gains in weight, costs of gains, and profits. No figures are available from California, except as to the number of members.

The figures following are compiled from the complete reports. Seventeen hundred and eighty-three pigs were reported, or an average of 1.4 pigs per member. The majority of members took weanling pigs to feed in the spring and reported their results in the fall. The average weight per pig at the beginning of the feeding period was 39.2 pounds. At the end of the feeding period which averaged 166 1/2 days, the pigs weighed 194 1/2 pounds. This was an average daily gain in weight of 0.93 pounds, at a cost of $0.044 per pound. This low cost of gain can be attributed, it is believed, to the better feeding methods practiced and the wide use of forage crops by the members.

The original value of the pigs averaged $5.24. The average final value was $21.43, a gain in value of $16.19. This gain in value cost $6.41, giving an average net profit per pig of $9.37, and an average net profit per member of $10.29.

These figures are a strong indication that improved swine, raised in the right way, are profitable even when pork values are as low as they were in 1915. The vast majority of members had carefully selected high-grade and pure bred hogs, and to this improved blood, as well as to the better feeding methods, can be attributed the large difference in favor of the average final value of pig-club hogs in the fall—$21.43, as compared with the estimated average value of all hogs on farms in the United States on January 1, 1916, $8.40. The pig-club members have shown their ability as a body to raise good pigs, cheap pigs and profitable pigs.

Many are keeping their gilt pigs for breeding purposes. Some already have found it profitable to breed as well as to feed pigs. Fifty-six members reporting on their sows and litters reported an average profit of $47.32. With the membership for this year doubled and most of the old members again on the rolls, the pig work should prove of even greater economic value in the future.

DISPLAY THE FLAG.

A gentleman was in the Journal office yesterday and said that while traveling thru many cities in Ohio, notably Cincinnati, Columbus, Dayton and other large places as well as small, he observed on many buildings flags and national colors while a great many persons, were small flags. The idea seemed to be a very good one.

DELAVAN LAD MET

DEATH BENEATH WHEELS

Word was received here yesterday from Miss Clara Watson, former night supervisor at Passavant Hospital that her brother Wilbur was killed near their home in Delavan, Illinois. Miss Watson had been called home on account of the illness of her mother.

The land has been attending the public schools of Delavan and was in the sixth grade. It seems that he hopped a freight Saturday night intending to go to a band concert in Ender. When the train arrived in Hartsburg he attempted to get off the moving cars. His foot must have slipped and he was thrown under the cars. His body was found in a mangled condition. At the inquest which was held the verdict was that he came to his death accidentally.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Woodward and son Donald spent Sunday at the home of G. A. Bennett in Meredosia.

LOST and FOUND
The next afternoon at 3 o'clock there was a telephone ring. Miss Shook responded.
"Mr. Jones is here."
"Where?"
"At the library."
Amelia was astonished. She was about to ask for an explanation when it occurred to her that the least said is soonest mended. She didn't care to let the librarian into any affair that had gone wrong. Her father was liable to interfere between her and Mr. Jones at any time. She would go and get the explanation from Mr. Jones herself.
"All right; I'll be over directly."
She found Mr. Jones pacing to and fro nervously. She led him into an alcove.
"Well," she said, "what can I do for you?"
"What can I do for you? The librarian sent me a line saying you would like to see me here at 3 o'clock."
There was a conference, during which Miss Shook went to the librarian and learned that the message had come from her father. Indeed, she drew forth the whole dialogue.
"Singular," she muttered, "that my name should be Amelia and his Tom Jones." Then she asked for a copy of Fielding's novel, "Tom Jones." The librarian gave it to her, and she gave it to Mr. Jones. He took it home and read a love story of which the hero was Tom Jones and the heroine Amelia. It gave him courage to make a proposal for the real Amelia's hand. The old man, instead of spurning it, had brought it about. When, long after the marriage, he was told of what he had done he merely remarked, "I thought them fellers had mighty queer names."

HORSE TRADE RESULTS IN ARREST
As the result of a horse trade B. S. Johnson was arrested Monday on complaint of Jake Miller charging him with obtaining property under false pretenses. It seems that Johnson and Miller traded horses and Johnson gave Miller a check for $50. Johnson afterward became dissatisfied with the trade and stopped payment on the check and Miller swore out a warrant for his arrest. When the case came before Justice Dyer a compromise was effected by Johnson paying Miller $25.

John Beggs has returned to Ashland after a visit with his friend, Earl Epler of the C. J. Deppe & Co. dry goods store.

GOOD RESULT OF A BLUNDER

Bashful Lover Stirred to Action by Odd Mistake.

Roger Shook was a self made man who in his youth received no educational advantages. He made a fortune and had but one child, a daughter, to inherit it. This daughter, Amelia, he sent to school and to college. She developed literary tastes, but of this her father knew nothing, for he had no knowledge whatever of literature. When he heard his daughter speak of "The Light of Asia" he supposed she referred to the illuminating substance used in that part of the globe. On hearing her say that she had spent the morning with "Dombey and Son" he told her to have the bill sent in at once, since he was closing up all outstanding accounts. "Very Hard Cash" he supposed meant a specie basis.

So frequent were these blunders that Amelia dreaded to speak of anything beyond her father's ken, for he was liable to mortify her by blurring them out in the presence of educated people. Indeed, the old man was rather fond of taking the lead in conversation, and the less he knew about a subject the more anxious he was to prove his familiarity with it.

Mr. Shook, not having a son to whom to leave his business, had brought up a young man from office boy to succeed him in its management. This man, Thomas Jones, he desired should marry his daughter. Jones was a fine business man and a fine fellow, and Amelia liked him very well, though she didn't care to communicate the fact to her father or to Mr. Jones. Jones was even more anxious for the match than his employer. He was not insensible to its advantages and was desperately in love with the girl. But, while he did not fear to tackle any man on a business proposition, he had no courage whatever in telling a woman that he loved her. The consequence was that the match hung fire.

One afternoon Mr. Shook went home from the office to find his family gadding. Some one was ringing on the telephone. He took down the receiver. "Is Miss Shook in?" called the soft voice of a woman.

"No. Any message for her?"
"Tell her 'Adam Bede' has just

SEE AMERICA FIRST.

Attractions Those Who Do Not Know
Their Country Would Find.

I have crossed the equator thirty-six times, and been around the world four times, and, on the side, I have been in every state of the United States. In all I am certain that I have traveled much over 200,000 miles.

I am frequently asked by friends where to travel on pleasure, and I always say, "See America first."

If I had a month's leisure and a few hundred dollars to spend in traveling for pleasure I would turn to the great west. Starting from New York, I would pass through Buffalo and stop off long enough to see Niagara falls and thence to Chicago and through Milwaukee and on to the Twin Cities, spending a few days in the lake region of Wisconsin and Minnesota, where I would find fishing, canoeing and sailing on some of the most beautiful inland waters of the world.

Continuing westward, the attractions of Glacier National park in the north-west corner of Montana would surely lure me to stop for a few days.

From this paradise I'd journey westward and see Mount Rainier National park, which covers more than 200,000 acres. World travelers have called Mount Rainier the "king of all mountains."

I would be sure to go to Tacoma and Seattle and Puget sound. If I had the time I certainly would take a ship at Seattle and go to see the wonders of Alaska, with its icefields that outlive the Norwegian fjords.

I would not miss Portland—the Rose City—where the queen of flowers blooms in profusion most of the year. From Portland I could go via boat or train to San Francisco, with its famous Golden Gate, and on southward to Los Angeles or turn my face toward the rising sun and visit Salt Lake City in the shadow of the Wasatch mountains.

From Salt Lake City to the Yellowstone National park is an overnight run by train, and I'd not miss this reservation for anything.

If my thirst for mountain scenery was still unsatisfied I should come east by way of Denver, situated one mile above sea level and surrounded by snow mountains that show their rugged outlines against the sky for more than 200 miles, of which Pikes peak is the dominating feature.

From here on I would journey home as time and fancy dictated. On all sides and by whatever route I might select I would find an attractive country with ripening orchards, waving fields and smiling farms through which to pass.

Throughout this entire holiday I would have no troubles from wrestling with foreign languages nor with unfamiliar coinage. There would be no vexatious customs to pass, no irritating police regulations to observe.—Dr. W. E. Aughinbaugh in Leslie's.

Interpreting a Problem.

Apropos of the problem of the great number that can be expressed by three figures, L. Capitaine writes that the figures 999 may be interpreted in two different ways. They may mean the ninth power of the ninth power of 9, or they may mean 9 raised to the ninth power of 9.

The ninth power of 9 is 387,420,489. This number raised to the ninth power is nothing so tremendous: any one could do the necessary calculation with a little time, as the result has only about seventy-five figures. But if we accept the second interpretation—9 raised to the ninth power of 9—it means that we shall have to multiply 9 by itself 387,420,489 times, which is a very different thing.

If All the World Were Perfect.

If all the world were perfect an intolerable sameness would be stamped upon humanity from one end of the earth to the other. "For the love of heaven," some one has exclaimed, "let me retain my defects. That is the only thing I really have." Moreover, there are some really quite captivating human defects. But it is important to control them so that they may never become obnoxious.—Anatole Le Braz in Outlook

To Mend a Tablecloth.

When a tablecloth begins to break or a small hole appears, cut a piece of white paper some larger than the place to be mended, baste securely over the hole and stitch on sewing machine, lengthwise and crosswise, very closely and evenly. It will look much neater and is easier than darning or patching by hand. I also mend sheets and bedspreads the same way. The paper will disappear when washed.—Farm and Fireside

Belated Wisdom.

"What I want to know, Johnny," demanded the stern parent, "is why you picked a quarrel with that bad boy next door?"

"I don't know, sir," replied the injured culprit, "but I s'pose it must have been 'cause I didn't know what a bad boy he was."—Richmond Times-Dispatch

ROOSEVELT DECLARES U. S. NEEDS HUGHES

misg contained in the platform which he stood four years ago has since been broken. We owe all of our present trouble with the professional German-American element in the United States to Mr. Wilson's timid and vacillating course during the last two years. The defenders of Mr. Wilson have alleged in excuse for him that he confronted a difficult situation. As regards Mexico, the situation which Mr. Wilson confronted was nothing like as difficult as that which President McKinley confronted in connection with Cuba and the Philippines at the time of the Spanish War. Under the actual circumstances we could with only a minimum of risk have protested on behalf of Belgium, a small, well-behaved nation, when she was exposed to the last extremity of outrage by the brutal violation of her neutral rights; this violation being itself a violation of The Hague conventions to which we were a signatory power.

As regards the foreign situation generally during the great war, the fact of the existence of the war made it far easier and safer for Mr. Wilson to assert our rights than if he had had to deal with some single strong power which was at the time unhampered by war. During the past twenty years questions have arisen with Powers of the first rank, such as England, Japan and Germany, each of which has necessitated far greater courage, resolution and judgment on the part of the President dealing with it than President Wilson need have shown in order to put a complete stop to the continually repeated murder of American men, women and children on the high seas by German submarines—the Lusitania being merely the worst of many such cases. The same feebleness that was shown by President Wilson in dealing with Germany abroad was also shown by him in dealing with the organized German outrages within our land, and finally, in dealing with the organized German-American menace at home is directly due to Mr. Wilson's course of action during the past two years.

Progressive Stand Aided Hughes.
Certain of my friends who feel that the Progressives should run a third ticket base their feeling on objection to the character or actions of the Republican National Convention. I do not believe that Mr. Hughes would have been nominated if it had not been for the fight on behalf of public decency and efficiency which the Progressive Party has waged during the past four years.

Think of U. S. First.

In any event, and without any regard to what the personal feelings of any of us may be as regards to the action of the Republican Convention, I wish very solemnly to ask the representatives of the Progressive Party to consider at this time only the welfare of the people of the United States. We shall prove false to our ideals and our professions if, in this grave crisis of the Nation's life we permit ourselves to be swayed from the one prime duty of serving with cool judgment and single minded devotion the Nation's needs.

The world is passing thru a great crisis and no man can tell what trial and jeopardy will have to be faced by this nation during the years immediately ahead. There is now no longer before us for decision the question as to what particular man we may severally most desire to see at the head of the government. We can decide only whether during these possibly vital years this country shall be entrusted to the leadership of Mr. Hughes or Mr. Wilson.

Wilson Found Wanting.

Mr. Wilson has been tried and found wanting. His party, because of its devotion to the outworn theory of state rights, and because of its reliance upon purely sectional support, stands against that spirit of far sighted nationalism which is essential if we are to deal adequately with our gravest problems. Mr. Wilson and his party have in actual practice lamentably failed to safeguard the interest and honor of the United States. They have brought us to impotence abroad and to division and weakness at home. They have accustomed us to see the highest and most responsible offices of government filled by incompetent men appointed only for reasons of partisan politics. They have dulled the moral sense of the people. They have taught us that peace, the peace of cowardice and dishonor and indifference to the welfare of others, is to be put above righteousness, above the stern and unflinching performance of duty whether the duty is pleasant or unpleasant. Yet in Mexico they have failed even to secure the peace which they thus sought; and they have failed in spite of the most ample opportunity and most ample warning, to prepare in any real fashion to meet the crisis which their own policy invited. They have taught us to put "safety first" safety before duty and honor; to put the materialism which expresses itself in mere money making, and in the fetted ease of life, above all spiritual things, above all the high and fine instincts of the soul. They have taught us to accept adroit eloquence as a substitute for straightforward and efficient action. They have raised indecision, hesitancy and vacillation into a settled governmental policy.

Hughes Efficiency Record.

Mr. Hughes has shown in his career, the instinct of efficiency which will guarantee that, under him, the government will once more work with vigor and force. He possesses that quality of straightforward thinking which means that his words will be correlated with his deeds and translated into facts. His past career is the warrant for our belief that he will be the unfaltering opponent of that system of invisible government which finds expression in domination of the party machine. His past career is a guarantee that whatever he says before election will be made good by his acts after election. Morally, his public record shows him to be a man of original and trained ability. We have the alternative of continuing in office an administration which have proved a lamentable failure, or of putting into office an administration which we have every reason to believe will function with efficiency for the interest and honor of all our people. I earnestly bespeak from my fellow Progressives their ungrudging support of Mr. Hughes.

FASHIONS, OR WOMAN'S HEALTH.

The first thing many persons think of finding on the Woman's Page of a newspaper is the Fashions. That is not what women most need to find there. Health is the first thing, and many women lack it. Notes telling how to preserve health are of the greatest value and interest for women; and, if they are suffering from woman's ailments, they read with the most intense interest how other women got well from their ailments, and so they too get what made them well.—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.—adv.

FIRST FIRE ALARM IN FIFTY-ONE DAYS

The fire department was called out Monday for the first time in 51 days. The alarm came in about noon and was from the residence of Fred Milo of 506 North East street. Sparks from a Wabash switch engine had started a fire in the roof. The blaze was discovered by employees of Otis Hoffman's cement works who turned in the alarm. The men then got busy with the blaze and when the department arrived had it under control. A hole about four feet square was burned in the roof.

GIRLS VISITED HOSPITAL

Their visit was much appreciated and they went away knowing that they had brightened the hearts of many people. The visitors were: Ella Eugenia Woodman, Dorothy Farrell, Ruth Reynolds, Isabel Oatman, and Marjorie McMurphy.

MORE INTEREST SHOWN NOW IN ENLISTMENT

Seven Men Added to Roll of Company B Monday—Twenty in Pittsfield Ready for Service.

The mass meeting at Armory hall last Friday night and recent developments in Mexico has caused renewed interest in Co. B. Capt. L. P. Owen came down from Springfield Monday evening and said that he had no fear now of going away from Jacksonville without a full quota of men.

Seven men were added to the roll of the company Monday. They are: Edward Thompson of Bluffs, Clyde J. Dickens, George W. Bates, John met by Mr. and Mrs. Louis Recker, Berndt and Eugene Murphy. Dickens is a musician and for a number of years has been a member of the Jeffries Concert Band. Capt. Owen was glad to get Dickens' enlistment as he was in need of another musician.

Word was received by Capt. Owen from Pittsfield Monday that a number of former members of Co. A of the old fifth regiment were ready to enlist. The letter stated that at least 25 men could be secured from that city.

HARVEST APPROACHING.

Wheat harvest is rapidly approaching and in several localities the heads are already beginning to turn yellow and many fields will probably be cut next week should the weather permit. The yield too promises much better in several parts of the county than was supposed would be the case a few weeks ago.

WHY DINING CAR CHEFS PREFER

KC BAKING POWDER

Those who have had cakes ruined by jarring the stove, slamming the oven door or a heavy footstep, may have wondered how the dining car chef can turn out such marvelous biscuits, hot breads and pastry when his oven is being incessantly jarred and shaken by the motion of the train.

Te get pastry to raise and stay raised under these conditions, a baking powder must be used that continues to give off its leavening gas—that sustains the raise—until the dough is baked through.

Dining Car Chefs have found a baking powder exactly suited to their needs in K C and you will find it just as well suited to your requirements. K C is really a blend of two baking powders, one active as soon as moistened, the other requiring both moisture and heat to start the generation of leavening gas. No matter how moist and rich you make your cake, K C Baking Powder will sustain the raise until a crust is formed and all danger of falling is past.

K C Baking Powder is pure and healthful. It is guaranteed under all pure food laws, and is guaranteed to please you. And it is sold at a reasonable price—no baking powder should sell for more.

Try a can at our risk and be convinced.

REV. MANDEVILLE CELEBRATED
MASS AT MURRAYVILLE.

Large Congregation Assembled Sunday in St. Bartholomew's Church.

A large congregation of relatives and friends from the Murrayville and neighboring parishes, assembled at St. Bartholomew's church Sunday, to assist at the high mass celebrated by the newly ordained priest, and listened to his first sermon on the Holy Eucharist which was most inspiring and instructive.

Murrayville had been the home of Father Mandeville for many years and he seemed to be much at home, as he greeted his many friends with a gentle hand clap and cheerful smile.

After the morning services, Father Mandeville accompanied by about fifty relatives and friends from a distance, went to the home of his brother, Mr. J. T. Mandeville, where a sumptuous dinner was served. A reception was given in the afternoon to friends who could not be present at the dinner.

The large dwelling and beautiful lawn of the Mandeville home, together with the generous hospitality of the host and hostess made the day a pleasant one for Father Mandeville's many friends.

When the guests departed it was with the hope that a long life and a great work await Father Mandeville.

PART OF NORTH STREET WILL BECOME BARTON PLACE

Ordinance for This Purpose Introduced in City Council—Needed Repairs Will be Made on City Building.

The business before the city council Monday morning was almost all of a perfunctory character. Most of the discussion indulged in was with reference to plans for keeping the streets in the business district clean. An ordinance changing the name of North West street from Walnut to Oak street to Barton Place was read. Commissioner Vasconcellos was authorized to have the tower of the city hall torn down and some repairs in the east wall made.

New Well Completed.

After the call to order and the usual opening formalities the clerk read a resolution transferring $300 from the bond interest fund to the sinking fund. In reports of departments Mayor Rodgers called attention to the fact that hearings will begin in the county court today with reference to the paving for South Main street and East State street. Just what will develop in these hearings is uncertain but the city will make every effort to have these improvements pushed forward this season. Mr. Cox reported some progress in the extension of the sewer on South Sandy street altho the work has been done under somewhat adverse circumstances. Mr. Vasconcellos reported the completion of a new well at the north side station and said that the flow after being tested out was about the same as from the other wells. The commissioner agreed to visit the pumping station in the afternoon.

Mr. Vasconcellos reported also the tower on the city building as in dangerous condition as the mortar has been washed away between a great many of the bricks. The east wall of the building is also in somewhat dangerous condition. Mr. Vasconcellos was authorized on motion of Mr. Cox and Mr. Martin to have the tower torn down to the level of the roof and to make any repairs that were further needed.

Street Flushing Question.

Mr. Widmayer brought up the question of flushing in the business district. It seems that Mr. Cocking had put out on the pavements once this month and immediately after work of flushing was commenced, and there is now the question as to who is entitled to the pay for this month's business. Mayor Rodgers suggested that Mr. Vasconcellos take the matter up with Mr. Cocking and come to some understanding. Mr. Cox said that if all the business district was to be flushed and the gutters cleaned each day that more labor would be required. Mr. Widmayer said, as he had at a previous meeting, that the purpose in the city taking over this work was not to make money but to keep the business district streets cleaner, and he thought the fees paid by the merchants would be sufficient to provide for the extra labor needed.

May Sell City Lots.

Mr. Vasconcellos brought to attention the city property on North Main street between Oak and Walnut streets. A strip of land 76 feet deep was deeded by a resident there ten or twelve years ago to another member of his family in order to avoid judgment for the pavement and sewer on North Main street. The property owner kept title to the land in the rear of this 76 foot strip. The city acquired the property adjoining the street by tax deed and it is now Mr. Vasconcellos' opinion that the land in the rear should be purchased so that the property fronting on the street can be sold. As it is now it is not of enough depth to meet the demands of the average person who wants to build a home. This matter was referred to City Attorney Reeve.

The ordinance changing the name of North West street between Walnut and Oak streets to Barton Place was given a first reading. This action was taken in accordance with petition of property owners made some time ago. The council then adjourned.

In the sight of other members of the company Jones drew a razor from his pocket and slashed his throat twice. He died ten minutes later while he was being hurried to a field hospital. The soldier enlisted in company D at Paris Friday of last week and very little is known about his history. One story is that the man had been divorced from his wife following some trouble and another story told of a crime committed several years ago when Jones shot and killed a man. ### IMPROVEMENT BOARD TALKED ABOUT IMPROVEMENTS

Subsequent to the meeting of the city council the board of local improvement held a session Monday morning. At this meeting a resolution was adopted providing for a tar-and-gravel pavement on South Clay avenue between Morton avenue and Superior avenue. The engineer's estimate shows that the improvement will cost about $8,228. A hearing on this pavement was set for July 7. This was the only action taken. There was some discussion as to the probability of widening several of the streets that enter the public square. Sandy, Morgan, Court and Mauvasterre streets are all so narrow that on busy days they are almost blocked with traffic. When three vehicles are abreast on any of these side streets they are so close together that there is the greatest danger of collision. This widening matter has thus far only been talked of and all the data desired for consideration by the board has not been presented by the public engineer.
